

The system would be much more useful if local cable companies didn't abuse testing by repeating it every 2 minutes for an hour once a week. As it is, it's become an annoyance to me. Once or twice is "testing". Anything more than that is annoying.